Hyderabad: Most banks operating in the country have migrated to the bank.in domain, with 889 domains registered by 747 unique banks under the new Reserve Bank of India (RBI) mandated domain to curb cyber frauds.

Only a few multinational and cooperative banks are still in the process of migration, IDRBT Director Deepak Kumar told RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra on Thursday during his visit to the Institute for Development and Research in Banking Technology (IDRBT).

The Hyderabad-based IDRBT, established by RBI in 1996, is the sole and exclusive registrar for the bank.in domain. It was appointed in April this year when RBI issued a directive mandating all Indian banks to migrate
